

Cottonwood Men's Golf Association (CMGA)-The men's club was founded in 1980 and has provided leadership in organizing golfing events for members during the past three decades. Membership is available to men who are members in good standing of their respective Sun Lakes HOAs (Cottonwood Palo Verde, IronOaks, Sun Lakes CC) and who pay the appropriate green fees as established by the Cottonwood Palo Verde HOA. Applications are available at the Cottonwood pro shop or can be obtained by contacting any association officer. CMGA welcomes new members and invites men in the community who are not currently members to join the association.

Saturday is the official men's tournament day and members play a variety of events including team and individual games. Entry fees for the day cover the weekly prize fund. All other costs related to tournament play are on a "pay as you go" basis. Dues for membership in the association include each member's fee to establish a USGA handicap and to help defray other costs such as patio parties, tournament support, and membership awards. Throughout the year the club holds a number of major tournaments including: Member/Guest, Member/Member, Club Championship, Presidents' Cup, and Ryder Cup. The association also conducts a charity tournament annually with profits being donated to a worthy community organization. The benefits associated with membership include: (1) the fun of participating in competitive, organized golfing events; (2) the opportunity to play and interact with fellow golfers from the Sun Lakes community; and (3) the chance to work with others to promote and advance the golfing experience for men of all proficiency levels.

The association has always taken seriously its responsibility to schedule tournaments and events that are challenging, yet fair to the individuals involved. That same spirit permeates the work of the organization today as it provides services to members whose ages range from 55 to 90+. The goal is to assure all members that they can compete in an atmosphere that is friendly and supportive of their skill levels.
